

Senior Food Scientist

Tampa Maid Foods, a privately-held food company headquartered in Lakeland, Florida, is an industry leader in innovative frozen coated foods – from seafood to vegetables, cheese and more. We are seeking a Senior Food Scientist to help create our expanding portfolio of value-added food products that are served in restaurants and other food service outlets as well as in your grocer's freezers.

Tampa Maid's primary expertise is in frozen coated products. From breadcrumbs and cracker meals to flours and batters, as well as flavor-infused glazes, Tampa Maid's proprietary coatings and processing methods add flavor, texture, and creativity to food.

As a member of our Research & Development team, the Senior Food Scientist will create and innovate frozen coated foods, under several brands, and for major retailers and restaurant chains. Highly motivated and organized. Manage multiple projects simultaneously. Good verbal and written communication skills. Must work collaboratively and cross-functionally with sales, marketing, supply chain, QA, and operations. Interact and engage with customers. This position requires tasting seafood, vegetables, and fried foods.

Minimum Qualifications

- Bachelor's in Food Science or related field required, Master's preferred
- 7+ years of relevant experience in the food industry
- Genesis experience a plus
- Product development experience
- Project management skills
- Microsoft Office proficiency
- Strong communication and presentation skills
- Occasional travel
- Familiar with GMPs, HACCP, and food safety

About Tampa Maid Foods, LLC

- Visit our website at www.TampaMaid.com for complete company history, information and to view our product portfolio

Contact:

- Karen Schneider
- kschneider@tampamaid.com